THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

A new baseball diamond was christened Sunday at Pioneers Park. It has been a long time since Nevada City had a baseball team and a place where it could play. Johnny O'Neil used to tell the writer of the good old days when the Nevada City Airport was a baseball diamond and crowds gathered there of a Sunday afternoon. And memory runs back to 1899 when Glenwood Park was an athletic enter and had, among other recreational features, a ball field where nines played to the music of bands and applause of multitudes.

We recall that special year of that because, at that time a student at Berkeley, we spent our vacation in Grass Valley and Nevada City. Nevada City and Grass Valley girls played a baseball game there, as one of the Fourth of July events, and Nevada City's team was victorious. The victory was due largely to the energy and skill of a tall, red haired forward, known only to the customers as "Red". With uncanny precision she made basket after basket, to the chant of the Nevada City bleachers: "Go it Red! Go it! We've got our money on you-ou!

The very excellent field in Pioneers Park, now gives our baseball players and fans, a real home. Sunday's game, not too well attended, we think, nevertheless is a mile-stone in Nevada City's progress. The more our citidens use the park, the more they will be interested in its improvement.

The game Sunday resulted in a victory for Nevada City's Merchants over the Colfax nine by the score of 11 to 2, a heart warming christening indeed. Whether this was due to our old friend Si Seize breaking in first base,, or the initial pitching of George Hansen, president of the chamber of commerce, we are in doubt, but we do believe that a chamber of commerce putting its back into baseball, as well as many other enterprises and sports, is a good augury for the community.

As sports editor for a metropoulitan daily of yesteryear, to mention it poetically, we recall with what difficulty we finally managed to hammer out a style of our own in reporting baseball. Returning from one of the state league games one evening we are fully recounted the highlights in the first pat of the story and then trailed off with the play by play report. We tossed the story on the managing editors desk, since he had asked to see it, and were about to go out to dinner, when he said abruptly "Wait a minute." It developed I waited several minutes. His eye rambled rapidly through the seats of copy. Finally his gimlet eyes paused. He looked up and roared: "Leete you have left Gilson on second base, in the second half of the fifth inning. Better get a cab and go out and bring him in. It must be getting chilly out there new."

There issued an argument of some ten minutes while I patiently explained and pointed out in the copy, that Gilson had been among the three that died on bases at the end of the inning. The chief was vey stubborn about it. He insisted that all three should have been properly mentioned in the story, when a pop fly put them out.

Up here in these hills our baseball fans can be just as critical as any we have found in the larger centers. Probably in the eyes of the fans, we shall never have in this country the perfect baseball player, much less the perfect reporter. But we can always try. If young Fred Anderson should develop an arm that can send the ball across the plate just a little faster than other ptichers, or Ainsley Fouyer should be able to stop them all, catch every flyball, guard the home plate with unusual skill and savoir faire, some talent scout eventually will pick them for a rookie on one of the state league teams, and finally, the big leagues may get them. And think what a feather that would be in Nevada City's cap!

Only first class mail may be posted in train mails.

SHERIFF SEEKS LAKE BOWMAN ROBBERS

NEVADA CITY: Sheriff Richard W. Hoskins reported yesterday that six summer homes belonging to Grass Valley sportsmen and business men, at Lake Bowman, had been robbed of sleeping bags, blankets, and between $60 and $70 worth of groceries, last week between May 11 and 16th.

Sunday, the sheriff said, he made an investigation, traced the thieves to a camp on Sawmill Creek, where the looters had destroyed much of their loot by using cans of fruit and vegetables for target practice. A lot of stolen kitchen equipment including a gallon coffee pot and several kettles, had been destroyed by cutting them up with a butcher's cleaver.

A stolen suit of clothes had been destroyed first by cutting off the sleeves, then rending it with a shotgun blast at close range. The sheriff said his first impression was that it was the work of youthful vandals, but tracks discovered, indicated the miscreants were men.

Among the summer homes entered and looted were those of Ernest Rowe, Carl Foote, the late Ernest George and others. Two deputies continued the investigation on Lake Bowman yestrday. Yesterday other burglaries of summer homes were reported from Kingvale on Highway 40.

"That on May 9th, when the grand jury was in session, he informed that body he would be available in the county clerk's office if they desired to question him or to report anything to him. He stayed there all the afternoon but was not called.

"On May 10th he called on Fred Nettell, foreman of the grand jury, at his office in Grass Valley,, talked about an hour concerning gambling and slot machine complaints, informed the grand jury foreman that he proposed an independent investigation and was told by Nettell that "he believed he (Sheldon) was handling the situation properly and was quite sure the gand jury would agree."

Crowds Witness Almquist's New Portable Sawmill Operate Monday

NEVADA CITY: Called the "first portable complete sawmiill" ever built. Lambert Almquist's diesel-powered sawmill gave a demonstration at Pine and Broad Streets yesterday at 11:30 a. m. The new mill, mounted on a 2½ ton GMC 6-wheel drive truck, sliced through logs of varying sizes.

A large crowd gathered as Almquist demonstrated his saw. Grammar school children lined the streets, released from school early for a session of industrial education. George Hansen, Chamber of Commerce president, made arrangements for the demonstration.

Almquist estimated that the sixty-inch insert tooth blade on his mounting could cut through 30,000 board feet of lumber per diem. The sawmill cost $40,000 to build and took 6 months. It was completed in Arthur Davis' machine shop on the Bloomfield road. 4 miles out of town. Almquist expects to cut 2 million board feet of lumber on his own holdings at Scott's Flat this summer.

The saw is powered by a 200 h.p. Cummins Diesel motor, the edger and blower are electric powered by a potable dynamo. The steel portap ortable dynamo. The steel portion of the apparatus was constructed at Jones Steel Co. in Roseville. Power is transmitted through V-belt drives; roller-ball- bearing construction is used throughout.

Almquist stated yesterday that he expects to begin immediately in the manufacture of more of the giant portable saw. He has been a lumber operator here since 1941.

Among the crowds of spectators were many photographers, professional and amatuer. William E. Wright, local attorney, was noted taking movies of the successful operation.

GRAND JURY'S FINAL ACTS

NEVADA CITY: Final recommendations of the Nevada County grand jury were made public Friday. The jury recommended against salary increases for three county officials —superior judge, district attorney and county auditor.

The jury returned to the board of supervisors without recommendation request for salary increases of other county employees.

One of the last functions of the jury was to address a letter to county officials reiterating its previous stand on slot machines.

Fred Nettell was foreman of the jury and Joseph Day, secretary. Judge James S. Snell named a new grand jury panel early in his term He said Friday that he might activate a new jury in the near future.

The recently discharged jury served from the latter part of 1946 until Friday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. It was what is termed as a "holdover" jury from the court of former Judge George Jones.

Members of the jury had expressed their desire to be released from service.

Although the jury had frequently criticized county officers, particularly the district attorney and sheriff, it had called neither Sheriff Hoskins or District Attorney Sheldon before it to inquire into matters pertaining to law enforcement.

Salary increase for one group of county authorities were recommended for a raise from $125 to $175 for justices of the peace.

WASHINGTON NOTES

By Congressman Clair Engle

WOOL MINING SUBSIDIES

Two programs of vital interest to the west—wool and mining—are at present being juggled around in congress. The reason for the difficulty is that both the program on wool and the progam on mining involve subsidies. Congress has been opposed to subsidies and many had hoped that when the war was over they could be eliminated entirely.

However it is apparent that both the domestic wool and the domestic mining industries are going to have help in meeting foreign competition either in the form of tariff protection or continued subsidies.

House Republican leaders the other day selected a subcommittee of eight to work out a compomise on the wool price support legislation. At a meeting attended by the Republican steering committee, Republican members of the rules committee and some members of the agriculture committee there was apparently an agreement to continue wool price supports and to turn over to the president and the tariff commission the job of protecting the domestic market from foreign imports. The present house bill authorizes the secretary of agriculture to tax up to 50% on imported wool—under the tentative agreement this would be dropped.

The public lands committee recently voted out a bill continuing the pemium price plan for domestic minerals and metals, particularly copper, lead and zinc. This program involves perhaps as much as $80,000,000 per annum in subsidies for the domestoc mining industry.

Both bills are now pending before the house rules committee and neither had been voted out. The indecision has resulted from the basic questions pointed out above, as well as the question of strategy as to which will it will ge wisest to report first. I am of the opinion that both bills will come out of the rules committee and both bills in some form or other will be passed by congress because the only alternative in each instance is to write off a large part of the domestic industry as a complete loss. Congress isn't willing to do that yet, even if it does have some subsidies.

RAINBOW TROUT

There has been a very large run of big rainbow trout from Exchequer Lake, Mariposa County according to the National Automobile Club.

ANGLERS ON KLAMATH RIVER

Anglers are still having very good luck on the Klamath River in the Siskiyou County area, according to the National Automobile Club. Fishermen and their families are camped thickly along the banks of the river in tents and trailer houses.

PLANE WRECK FOUND NEAR SODA SPRINGS

SODA SPRINGS: Accompanied by Deputy Coroner Lauren Bryan and A. C. Seales of Portland an army and civilian ground crew left Auburn early Friday morning for the Robertson Flat country east of Forest Hill, 14 miles southwest of Soda Springs to seek the wreckage of a plane which Lieut. Col. Donald C. Pricer, commanding officer of the 62nd Air Rescue Squadron discovered from the air Thursday.

Col. Pricer reported he was able to read identifying numerals showing the wreckage to have been the plane of J. E. Seales of Portlnd, Ore. which had been missing since March 7th.

The wreckage was said to be on a mountain side at an estimated elevation of 5300 feet. 14 miles south-west of Soda Springs and according to officials of the Tahoe National Forest the description would place the spot in the rugged American River Canyon in the Robertson Flat-Duncan Peak area.

Mrs. Floy Margaret Reynolds, our Nevada County Long Ago correspondent is recuperating from a rugged session on the operating table. Mrs. Reynolds, we are happy to report, is making a strong recovery and will soon be back in the old as one of the paper's most-read writers.

Would you like to have ridden with Thomas Legg when he pulled maximum speeds from his 1941 Pontiac 8? One hundred and ten miles per hour, merely. His '46 Pontiac is practically horse-drawn, 90 mph. plus is all.

As we have related before: We get everything in our mail. Here's another letter, printed verbatim for your whaddayaknow file.

"The Egg and I Ranch No. 2"
North San Juan
May 19, 1947.
Dear Editor:

Believe it or not, I have a hen that laid an egg on my birthday, April 18th, and I sure was surprised when I gathered the eggs and found this large one.

It measures 8½ inches around the egg lengthwise, 7 inches around the center and weighed 1½ pounds.

Yours,
Mrs. Harry Prentiss
Box 446
North San Juan, California.

Eugene A. "Spike" Rose a new member of our mechanical department, and an avid camera fan, estimates that he had snapped about one million pictures in his life. He bought his first camera when he was 6 ears old, and developed his first film when he was seven. (He left it in the developer too long and the emulsion ran off the film.) His principal ambition, aside from becoming a photo-journalist, is to own a large number of extremely expensive cameras.

Donald Justin Rollins, president of the Nevada County Printers Devil Association, in a confidential interview stated that his attitude toward Grape-Nuts had undergone a complete reversal in the last year. "Used to be," said D. J., "that I could only eat one bowl of Grape-Nuts. Seemed like they were too rich. Nowadays, especially after a rough session of work at the Nugget, I can sit down at the kitchen table with plenty of sugar and milk, and boy, I can make a whole box of grape-nuts disappear fastern' you could put a knot on my head."

The Nugget's Long-Ender (That's long for Short Ender) made a strictly private and q. t. investigation of the slot machine situation in a nearby municipality and he is delighted to report that in that former lair was not to be seen or heard the faintest evidence of a one-armed bandit. The situation there couldn't have dove-tailed more perfectly with the facts as so recently described by our sheriff and district attorney.

It can also be reported that the Yuba near Washington and below Canyon Creek looks as it would be no good for swimming this summer. It's muddy, exactly the color of taffy due to tailings from the Arctic Mine.

And for the Passing Mention Department, while we're writing about Washington, of interest are the names of two summer homes there: Utter Rest, formerly owned by people named Utter and Harlow Haven.

TROUT LIMITS TAKEN

Mussels from the California-Oregon border south to the California-Mexico border are quarantined from May 1 to October 31, reports the National Automobile Club. While they are not to be used for human food some anglers might find them useful for bait.

CARL L. TOBIASSEN POSTHUMOUSLY AWARDED SILVER STAR FOR GALLANTRY IN OKINAWA ACTION

NEVADA CITY: Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Tobiassen received word last week that their late son, Carl L. Tobiassen had been posthumously awarded the Silver Star with a citation for galnatry in action on the Ryukyu Island of Okinawa in the South Pacific.

The citation, and a letter from General A. A. Vandegrift, Marine Corps Commandant, follows:

The Secretary of the Navy
Washington

The President of the United States takes pride in presenting the Silver Star posthumously to

CORPORAL CARL L. TOBIASSEN
UNITED STATES MARINE CORPS RESERVE

for service as set forth in the following CITATION:

"For conspicious gallantry and intrepidity as a Fire Team Leader, serving with Company I, Third Battalion, Seventh Marines, First Marine Division, in action against enemy Japanese forces on Okinama, Ryukyu Islands, 14 June 1045. When his squad was suddenly attacked by close range nemy sniper and machine gun fire during an extremely hazardous patrol into Japanese held territory, Corporal Tobiassen voluntarily moved forward with another Marine despite the deadly barrage of hostile fire and, deliberately exposing himself to th enemy, enabled his unit to determine the strength and disposition of Japanese troops. When his companion was struck down by the accurate fire of three Japanese riflemen, he quickly turned on the attackers and, after completely destroying them., successfully evacuated his wounded comrade. By his daring, initiative, valiant fighting spirit and cool courage under fire, Corporal Tobiassen contributed materially to the ultimate capture of this vital Japanese stronghold and his heroic conduct throughout this perilous mission was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

For the President.

Secretary of the Navy.

PHYSICAL FITNESS INDICATOR REPORTED

BERKELEY: A new indicator of physical fitness and a possible aid in the study of circulatory diseases has been reported by Dr. William E. Berk, research fellow in the division of medical physics at the University of California.

Dr. Berg has adapted the thermal conductivity analyzer used in industrial analyses of gases to the measurement of carbon dioxide eliminated and oxygen consumed during and after exercise.

While taking step-up exercises the subject breathes into a mask. Expired air is forced from the mask through a tube, from which samples are maasured in a thermal conductivity analyzer.

Carbon dioxide accumulates in the body during exercise as a waste product of the expenditure of energy, and must be eliminated.

The technique is considered to be a test of the efficiency of the circulatory system and may be used in the study and possibly as an aid in the diagnosis of cardiavascular diseases.
